These sculptural wonders embody the essence of a life well-lived: one that's fun, flowing, and boldly unique. A harmonious medley of sapphires, emeralds, and diamonds encases the South Sea Baroque Pearl, forming an unstructured rock formation that's both casual and chic. With each wear, these earrings become a reminder that life's true beauty lies in embracing its joyful, unscripted moments. Adorn yourself with this exquisite piece and let the world see the vibrant, unstructured masterpiece that you are, celebrating the beauty of imperfection and the joy of spontaneity.

Fun Fact: Pearls are composed totally out of nacre. The way a pearl is made is a fascinating process: first, a foreign object, such as sand, enters the mollusc shell. The mollusc regards the object as an invader, its primary defense mechanism is to then continually coat the intruder in layers of nacre to protect itself. The mollusc continues to effuse precious nacre until it feels safe. 3 to 5 years later, a one-of-a-kind pearl has formed.
