Arun finds endless fascination in the allure of stained glass windows. Drawing inspiration from the way these luminous marvels interact with light, We have curated an exclusive series of earrings that pay homage to this art form. In a nod to the stained glass aesthetic, Arun's designs feature thinly cut, flat stones that are skillfully incorporated into the iconic egg shapes which have become a signature hallmark of the brand. His attention to detail is evident in every piece, from the subtle mismatched shapes adorning the ears to the intricate reverse-set diamonds and the use of blackened gold, all of which collectively define the distinctive beauty of his creations.

Fun Fact: Tsavorite is a rare form of garnet named Green Grossularia. Its rich color emerges from the presence of vanadium and, occasionally, chromium in its chemical composition.
